
[done] surveycraft format

Posted by chinamyst - 2008/07/02 16:07

Hi,

Does anyone know how i can export data in Surveycraft format or convert exported data (in one of LimeSurvey's supported formats) to this format?

=====

Re:surveycraft format

Posted by gmaddockgreene - 2008/07/03 18:52

Surveycraft is SPSS isn't it? Limesurvey allows for SPSS format export as standard. Also CSV export which I understand SPSS will accept (Comma delimited ASCII)

=====

Re:surveycraft format

Posted by paulalford - 2008/07/05 00:07

Another SurveyCraft user out there.. :kiss: You're a part of a very select and dying group of hardcore DP people.

Damn fine piece of software you're using there, in fact the best piece of MR software ever written in my opinion. Shame those b@stards at SPSS got their mits on it.

You can't take data directly from LS into SC, but if you go out via CSV or even Word it's easy enough to create a .seq file to import.

I'd take the data into Excel first to knock the multi's into SC order and then create the .seq. If you get it into Word you can even set-up ABCD level hierarchies to use with S flagged questions if you know the the character codes for the loop level markers.

SPSS would have you believe resistance to change is futile. Resist at all costs... ;)

=====