
where to include countdown timer script?

Posted by erickson - 2008/07/04 14:28

hi everyone

I want to include a time limit for a survey.

I have already the javascripts, i just don't know exactly where to put it.

if anyone can recomend a script that will work, that will be perfert

thx

countdown timer script resolved !

hi guys

keep in touch I've successfully included a basic countdown timer within the template.

will explain detail steps tommorow <http://www.limesurvey.org/images/fbfiles/images/3.jpg>

IS there an online survey available where we can see the timer in action?

This would be a nice feature, what about integrating this into limesurvey?

Hi,

I would be really interested in introducing a time limit in my survey, but I don't know anything about javascripts whatsoever. Could someone explain me how I could work it out?

Thanks very much in advance!!

Hi!

I do not know if a time limit based on Javascript makes a whole lot of sense.

Even some inexperienced users will be able to get rid of the time limit. Shouldn't this be something that is on php basis?

Yes maybe.

To be honest I don't know much about that stuff so any advice is welcome!

Do you know any way to set a time limit for some items?

I could try to work on the php basis but I don't really know how.

Thanks for your swift reply :)

Hmm, "tomorrow" has been a while ago?

There are lots of users who are intrested in your solution. Can you give us some more information/instructions?
