[done] any way to switch off e-mail notification?

hi folks,

i searched the forums and the bug tracker, i know there's a feature request for switching off notifications on completion of the survey. but now i'm having a relatively urgent case of needing this - is there a way of modifying the source of a (ore some of the) php file or anything like this to permanently swith off the notification?

Any help would be very appreciated.

Dirk

Just for clarification, are you talking about admin notifications?

My users don't receive email notifications, but as posted in this thread, I am having all sorts of email problems anyway!

I know you have done before but please search the forum again. It should be possible to disable email notification by commenting out some lines in the source code.

Please check manual -> workarounds, too. Maybe the solutions was noted down there meanwhile.
