
VERY slow editing after updating to WinXP SP3

Posted by ungemah - 2008/05/09 22:53

Not sure if either this is the right place to put this or if I am unique -- but I noticed a significant slowing in the edit process (for either group or question) after updating to Windows XP SP3. Anyone else experiencing this?

=====

Re:VERY slow editing after updating to WinXP SP3

Posted by jlsimon - 2008/05/10 00:09

Do you run your limesurvey installation locally on your XP (with Xampp for windows or something), or is it just your internet browser that works slow?

I downloaded SP3 yesterday and didn't notice that. I use FF 2.0.0.14, and XP SP3.

Regards,

jlsimon

=====

Re:VERY slow editing after updating to WinXP SP3

Posted by ungemah - 2008/05/10 00:26

No, it's remote. Actually, I've noticed it runs faster than before on IE 7 (after SP3) and much slower than before on Opera 9.27 / Firefox 2.0.0.14. It's the only change I can think of that would have impacted all browsers. I'll keep digging... as I said, it's very well likely it's just me.

BTW - only seems to affect pages that load the editor user interface (not sure what to call it -- the tools that let you markup text without digging into HTML code).

=====

Re:VERY slow editing after updating to WinXP SP3

Posted by Mazi - 2008/05/16 16:15

Did you solve the problem? No other users have complained about this so far.

=====