
[done ?] newbie Q: duplicate but blank

Posted by patll - 2008/07/04 06:45

ver. 1.7 on a hosted server

Couple of questions:

There seems to be, and I can't figure out why, an empty(of the survey question of ...) announcement page showing, seemingly, the text from the groups page with the next button and when you go next it takes you to the proper survey question.

it is populated with a next button but no back button and if you do next and then go back it isn't there and go next it is there. It skips it going back and shows up again when you go forward.

<http://www.lakeco-op.org/survey/index.php?sid=39943&lang=en>

if you want to see it.

Should I have put these on separate posts?

Thanks

Re:newbie Q\'s: Thank you page, duplicate but blank

Posted by jcleeland - 2008/07/04 09:10

In question-by-question surveys, a page will display with the Group Description, if there is one (but only on the way forwards, not backwards) - so it sounds like this is what is happening. You'll probably find that you have something in the Group Description field.. even if it's just a space, or some empty html. Use the FitLimeWin icon in the menu bar for the group description, and then the "Source" button to check the raw html code, and delete everything.

Jason

Re:newbie Q\'s: Thank you page, duplicate but blank

Posted by patll - 2008/07/04 12:28

Thanks I'll check that, I figured there is something on the group page that was making it do that, but I just couldn't find anything, or a setting, or something. Being a newbie at it, I have the added idiot or stupid factor to contend with... like "oh, Yeah what an idiot I am for missing this or that"

Thank for taking the time, I'll report back
